

CREATE LASTING MEMORIES FOR YOUR CHILDREN DURING THE HOLIDAY SEASON BY PAYING YOUR CHILD SUPPORT

by Texas Attorney General Greg Abbott

CHILDREN OF ALL AGES LOOK FORWARD to celebrating the holiday season. For some, this time of year represents family traditions, large meals and new toys. For others, it can mean disappointment and going without. Make sure the holidays are a memorable and joyful time of year for your children by paying your child support.

Child support enables parents to put a roof over their children's heads, clothes on their backs and food on the table. During the holidays these challenges are compounded as parents also try to put gifts under the tree, a special meal on the table or gas in their car for a long trip to grandma's house. That is why we are giving parents this special reminder to pay their child support.

The Attorney General's Child Support Division extends a heartfelt thank you to those parents who regularly pay their child support in full and on time. Your faithfulness will reap great rewards as you help your children remember the holidays as a time of provision rather than hardship.

Sometimes circumstances arise, such as losing a job, that make it difficult to meet one's child support obligation. For parents who are in a situation like this, contact the Child Support Division so we can work together to determine a course of action. As an additional service, the Attorney General's Office partners with the Texas Workforce Commission and workforce development boards across the state to help low-income parents find good-paying jobs so they can meet their child support obligations.

Ultimately, what children need most is to know their parents care about them. For unmarried parents, this begins with establishing paternity. When paternity is established, a child has a legal connection to his or her father that protects the child's access to a range of benefits fathers can provide, starting with having dad's name on the birth certificate. Through the Paternity Opportunity Program, the Attorney General's Office trains and certifies employees of hospitals and birthing centers to assist parents with the process of acknowledging paternity just after their child's birth. The Child Support Division also can facilitate DNA tests to scientifically and legally establish fatherhood. As children grow up, our office encourages parents to stay involved in their lives beyond paying child support.

The Office of the Attorney General also helps parents who are having trouble getting access to their children. This year, we administered more than $550,000 in federal grants to 15 organizations across Texas that facilitate parents' access to and visitation with their children. One organization, Legal Aid of NorthWest Texas, operates a statewide Access and Visitation Hotline. The hotline is staffed by attorneys who provide legal information and assistance with child custody and visitation matters. Parents can call the hotline's toll-free number, (866) 292-4636, Monday through Friday from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Please, help create joyful memories for your children this holiday season by being there for them and paying your child support. The Office of the Attorney General wishes you and your family a safe and happy holiday season!
