

ATTORNEY GENERAL OF TEXAS
GREG ABBOTT

June 24, 2004

Mr. Kevin D. Pagan
Deputy City Attorney
City of McAllen
P.O. Box 220
McAllen, Texas 78505-0220

OR2004-5189

Dear Mr. Pagan:

You ask whether certain information is subject to required public disclosure under chapter 552 of the Government Code. Your request was assigned ID# 204391.

The City of McAllen (the "city") received a request for the entire personnel file of a former city employee. You inform us that the city is releasing some of the requested information. You claim that other responsive information is excepted from disclosure under sections 552.101, 552.117, and 552.137 of the Government Code. We have considered the exceptions you claim and have reviewed the information you submitted.

Section 552.101 excepts from required public disclosure "information considered to be confidential by law, either constitutional, statutory, or by judicial decision." Gov't Code § 552.101. This exception encompasses information that other statutes make confidential. You contend that information relating to the former employee's account with the Texas Municipal Retirement System is confidential under section 815.503 of the Government Code. Section 815.503 is applicable to the Employees Retirement System of Texas, not the Texas Municipal Retirement System. See id. § 811.001(15) (defining "retirement system" for purposes of Gov't Code tit. 8 subtit. B). Therefore, the submitted retirement system information is not excepted from disclosure under sections 552.101 and 815.503 of the Government Code.

Criminal history record information ("CHRI") obtained from the National Crime Information Center ("TCIC") or the Texas Crime Information Center ("TCIC") is confidential under federal and state law. Federal law governs the dissemination of CHRI obtained from the NCIC network. Federal regulations prohibit the release to the general public of CHRI that is maintained in state and local CHRI systems. See 28 C.F.R. § 20.21(c)(1) (“Use of criminal history record information disseminated to noncriminal justice agencies shall be limited to the purpose for which it was given”) and (c)(2) (“No agency or individual shall confirm the existence or nonexistence of criminal history record information to any person or agency that would not be eligible to receive the information itself”); see also Open Records Decision No. 565 at 10-12 (1990). The federal regulations allow each state to follow its own individual law with respect to CHRI that it generates. See id. at 10-12. Sections 411.083(b)(1) and 411.089(a) of the Government Code authorize a criminal justice agency to obtain CHRI; however, a criminal justice agency may not release CHRI except to another criminal justice agency for a criminal justice purpose. See Gov’t Code § 411.089(b).¹ Thus, CHRI generated by the federal government or another state may be disclosed only in accordance with the federal regulations. Likewise, CHRI held by the Texas Department of Public Safety or another criminal justice agency must be withheld from the public as provided by subchapter F of chapter 411 of the Government Code. Furthermore, when a law enforcement agency compiles information that relates to a particular individual as a criminal suspect, arrested person, or defendant, the compilation of criminal history information takes on a character that implicates the individual’s common-law privacy interests in a manner that the same information in an uncompiled state does not. See U. S. Dep’t of Justice v. Reporters Comm. for Freedom of the Press, 489 U.S. 749 (1989); Open Records Decision No. 616 at 2-3 (1993). Therefore, any CHRI that is confidential under federal law or subchapter F of chapter 411 of the Government Code and any criminal history that is private under Reporters Committee must be withheld under section 552.101 of the Government Code.

The common-law right to privacy protects information that is (1) highly intimate or embarrassing, such that its release would be highly objectionable to a person of ordinary sensibilities, and (2) of no legitimate public interest. See Indus. Found. v. Tex. Indus. Accident Bd., 540 S.W.2d 668, 685 (Tex. 1976). Certain types of personal financial information must be withheld from the public under section 552.101 in conjunction with common-law privacy. This office has determined that financial information that relates only to an individual ordinarily satisfies the first element of the common-law privacy test, but the public has a legitimate interest in the essential facts about a financial transaction between an individual and a governmental body. See Open Records Decision Nos. 600 at 9-12 (1992) (identifying public and private portions of certain state personnel records), 545 at 4 (1990) (attorney general has found kinds of financial information not excepted from public disclosure by common-law privacy to generally be those regarding receipt of governmental funds or debts owed to governmental entities), 523 at 4 (1989) (noting distinction under common-law privacy between confidential background financial information furnished to public body about individual and basic facts regarding particular financial transaction between individual and public body), 373 at 4 (1983) (determination of whether public's interest in obtaining personal financial information is sufficient to justify its disclosure must be made on case-by-case basis).

Thus, a public employee's allocation of part of the employee's salary to a voluntary investment program offered by the employer is a personal investment decision, and information about that decision is protected by common-law privacy. See, e.g., Open Records Decision Nos. 600 at 9-12 (1992) (participation in TexFlex), 545 at 3-5 (1990) (deferred compensation plan). Likewise, the details of an employee's enrollment in a group insurance program, the designation of the beneficiary of an employee's retirement benefits, and an employee's authorization of direct deposit of the employee's salary are protected by common-law privacy. See Open Records Decision No. 600 at 9-12. But where a transaction is funded in part by a governmental body, it involves the employee in a transaction with the governmental body, and the basic facts about that transaction are not private under section 552.101. See id. at 9 (basic facts of group insurance provided by governmental body not protected by common-law privacy). We have marked personal financial information that the city must withhold under section 552.101 in conjunction with common-law privacy.

Section 552.117(a)(1) excepts from public disclosure the home address and telephone number, social security number, and family member information of a current or former employee of a governmental body who requests that this information be kept confidential under section 552.024. The determination of whether a particular item of information is protected by section 552.117(a)(1) must be determined at the time of the governmental body's receipt of the request for the information. See Open Records Decision No. 530 at 5 (1989). Thus, the city may only withhold information under section 552.117(a)(1) on behalf of a current or former employee who made a request for confidentiality under section 552.024 prior to the date of the city's receipt of the request for the information. The city may not withhold information under section 552.117(a)(1) on behalf of a current or former employee who did not make a timely election under section 552.024 to keep the information confidential.

You inform us, and have submitted documentation demonstrating, that the former employee to whom the submitted information pertains timely requested confidentiality for her home address and telephone number, social security number, and information that reveals whether she has family members. We therefore conclude that the section 552.117 information that the city has marked is excepted from disclosure under section 552.117(a)(1). We have marked additional information that the city also must withhold under section 552.117(a)(1).

Section 552.130 excepts from public disclosure information that relates to "a motor vehicle operator's or driver's license or permit issued by an agency of this state[.]" Gov't Code § 552.130(a)(1). We agree that the Texas driver's license information that you have marked must be withheld under section 552.130. We have marked other Texas driver's license information that you also must withhold under section 552.130.

Section 552.136 is applicable to certain account numbers and other "access devices." This section provides as follows:

(a) In this section, "access device" means a card, plate, code, account number, personal identification number, electronic serial number, mobile identification number, or other telecommunications service, equipment, or instrument identifier or means of account access that alone or in conjunction with another access device may be used to:

(1) obtain money, goods, services, or another thing of value;
or

(2) initiate a transfer of funds other than a transfer originated solely by paper instrument.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of this chapter, a credit card, debit card, charge card, or access device number that is collected, assembled, or maintained by or for a governmental body is confidential.

Gov't Code § 552.136. You have marked an account number and an "access key" in the submitted documents. You do not inform us, however, and it is not otherwise clear to this office that either the account number or the access key constitutes an access device under section 552.136(a). We therefore conclude that you may not withhold either the account number or the access key under section 552.136.

Lastly, we address your claim under section 552.137. As amended by the 78th Legislature, this section provides as follows:

(a) Except as otherwise provided by this section, an e-mail address of a member of the public that is provided for the purpose of communicating electronically with a governmental body is confidential and not subject to disclosure under this chapter.

(b) Confidential information described by this section that relates to a member of the public may be disclosed if the member of the public affirmatively consents to its release.

(c) Subsection (a) does not apply to an e-mail address:

- (1) provided to a governmental body by a person who has a contractual relationship with the governmental body or by the contractor's agent;
- (2) provided to a governmental body by a vendor who seeks to contract with the governmental body or by the vendor's agent;
- (3) contained in a response to a request for bids or proposals, contained in a response to similar invitations soliciting offers or information relating to a potential contract, or provided to a governmental body in the course of negotiating the terms of a contract or potential contract; or
- (4) provided to a governmental body on a letterhead, coversheet, printed document, or other document made available to the public.

(d) Subsection (a) does not prevent a governmental body from disclosing an e-mail address for any reason to another governmental body or to a federal agency.

Gov't Code § 552.137. Section 552.137 excepts from public disclosure certain e-mail addresses of members of the public that are provided for the purpose of communicating electronically with a governmental body, unless the individual to whom the e-mail address belongs has affirmatively consented to its public disclosure. Section 552.137 is not applicable to the types of e-mail addresses listed in section 552.137(c) or to an institutional e-mail address, an Internet website address, or an e-mail address that a governmental entity maintains for one of its officials or employees.

We agree that the e-mail address that you have marked is confidential under section 552.137(a). The city must withhold this e-mail address under section 552.137, unless the owner of the e-mail address has affirmatively consented to its public disclosure.

In summary: (1) any criminal history record information that is confidential under federal law or subchapter F of chapter 411 of the Government Code or any compilation of criminal history information that is private under Reporters Committee must be withheld under section 552.101 of the Government Code; (2) the city must withhold the personal financial information that is protected by common-law privacy under section 552.101; (3) the city must withhold the information that is excepted from disclosure under section 552.117(a)(1); (4) the Texas driver's license information must be withheld under section 552.130; and (5) the city must withhold the e-mail address under section 552.137, unless the owner of the e-mail address has affirmatively consented to its public disclosure. The rest of the submitted information must be released.

This letter ruling is limited to the particular records at issue in this request and limited to the facts as presented to us; therefore, this ruling must not be relied upon as a previous determination regarding any other records or any other circumstances.

This ruling triggers important deadlines regarding the rights and responsibilities of the governmental body and of the requestor. For example, governmental bodies are prohibited from asking the attorney general to reconsider this ruling. Gov't Code § 552.301(f). If the governmental body wants to challenge this ruling, the governmental body must appeal by filing suit in Travis County within 30 calendar days. Id. § 552.324(b). In order to get the full benefit of such an appeal, the governmental body must file suit within 10 calendar days. Id. § 552.353(b)(3), (c). If the governmental body does not appeal this ruling and the governmental body does not comply with it, then both the requestor and the attorney general have the right to file suit against the governmental body to enforce this ruling. Id. § 552.321(a).

If this ruling requires the governmental body to release all or part of the requested information, the governmental body is responsible for taking the next step. Based on the statute, the attorney general expects that, within 10 calendar days of this ruling, the governmental body will do one of the following three things: 1) release the public records; 2) notify the requestor of the exact day, time, and place that copies of the records will be provided or that the records can be inspected; or 3) notify the requestor of the governmental body's intent to challenge this letter ruling in court. If the governmental body fails to do one of these three things within 10 calendar days of this ruling, then the requestor should report that failure to the attorney general's Open Government Hotline, toll free, at (877) 673-6839. The requestor may also file a complaint with the district or county attorney. Id. § 552.3215(e).

If this ruling requires or permits the governmental body to withhold all or some of the requested information, the requestor can appeal that decision by suing the governmental body. Id. § 552.321(a); Texas Dep't of Pub. Safety v. Gilbreath, 842 S.W.2d 408, 411 (Tex. App.—Austin 1992, no writ).

Please remember that under the Act the release of information triggers certain procedures for costs and charges to the requestor. If records are released in compliance with this ruling, be sure that all charges for the information are at or below the legal amounts. Questions or complaints about over-charging must be directed to Hadassah Schloss at the Texas Building and Procurement Commission at (512) 475-2497.

If the governmental body, the requestor, or any other person has questions or comments about this ruling, they may contact our office. We note that a third party may challenge this ruling by filing suit seeking to withhold information from a requestor. Gov't Code § 552.325. Although there is no statutory deadline for contacting us, the attorney general prefers to receive any comments within 10 calendar days of the date of this ruling.

Sincerely,
