

ATTORNEY GENERAL OF TEXAS
GREG ABBOTT

June 24, 2009

Ms. Lona Chastain
Public Information Coordinator
Texas Workforce Commission
101 East 15th Street
Austin, Texas 78778-0001

OR2009-08697

Dear Ms. Chastain:

You ask whether certain information is subject to required public disclosure under the Public Information Act (the "Act"), chapter 552 of the Government Code. Your request was assigned ID# 347250 (TWC Tracking No. 090407-049).

The Texas Workforce Commission (the "commission") received a request for information pertaining to a specified discrimination charge. You state some of the requested information will be released to the requestor. You claim the submitted information is excepted from disclosure under sections 552.101, 552.111, 552.117, and 552.147 of the Government Code. We have considered the exceptions you claim and reviewed the submitted representative sample of information.¹

Initially, the commission claims the information at issue is subject to the federal Freedom of Information Act ("FOIA"). Section 2000e-5(b) of title 42 of the United States Code states in relevant part the following:

Whenever a charge is filed by or on behalf of a person claiming to be aggrieved . . . alleging that an employer . . . has engaged in an unlawful employment practice, the [Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (the ¹We assume that the "representative sample" of records submitted to this office is truly representative of the requested records as a whole. See Open Records Decision Nos. 499 (1988), 497 (1988). This open records letter does not reach, and therefore does not authorize the withholding of, any other requested records to the extent that those records contain substantially different types of information than that submitted to this office.

“EEOC”)] shall serve a notice of the charge . . . on such employer . . . , and shall make an investigation thereof . . . Charges shall not be made public by the [EEOC].”

42 U.S.C. § 2000e-5(b). The EEOC is authorized by statute to utilize the services of state fair employment practices agencies to assist in meeting its statutory mandate to enforce laws prohibiting discrimination. See id. § 2000e-4(g)(1). The commission informs us it has a contract with the EEOC to investigate claims of employment discrimination allegations. The commission asserts under the terms of this contract, “access to charge and complaint files is governed by FOIA, including the exceptions to disclosure found in the FOIA.” The commission claims because the EEOC would withhold the information at issue under section 552(b)(5) of title 5 of the United States Code, the commission should also withhold this information on this basis. We note, however, FOIA is applicable to information held by an agency of the federal government. See 5 U.S.C. § 551(1). The information at issue was created and is maintained by the commission, which is subject to the state laws of Texas. See Attorney General Opinion MW-95 (1979) (FOIA exceptions apply to federal agencies, not to state agencies); Open Records Decision Nos. 496 (1988), 124 (1976); see also Open Records Decision No. 561 at 7 n.3 (1990) (federal authorities may apply confidentiality principles found in FOIA differently from way in which such principles are applied under Texas open records law); Davidson v. Georgia, 622 F.2d 895, 897 (5th Cir. 1980) (state governments are not subject to FOIA). Furthermore, this office has stated in numerous opinions that information in the possession of a governmental body of the State of Texas is not confidential or excepted from disclosure merely because the same information is or would be confidential in the hands of a federal agency. See e.g., Attorney General Opinion MW-95 (1979) (neither FOIA nor federal Privacy Act of 1974 applies to records held by state or local governmental bodies in Texas); ORD 124 (fact that information held by federal agency is excepted by FOIA does not necessarily mean that same information is excepted under the Act when held by Texas governmental body). You do not cite to any federal law, nor are we aware of any such law, that would pre-empt the applicability of the Act and allow the EEOC to make FOIA applicable to information created and maintained by a state agency. See Attorney General Opinion JM-830 (1987) (EEOC lacks authority to require a state agency to ignore state statutes). Thus, you have not shown how the contract between the EEOC and the commission makes FOIA applicable to the commission in this instance. Accordingly, the commission may not withhold the information at issue pursuant to FOIA.

Section 552.101 of the Government Code excepts from disclosure “information considered to be confidential by law, either constitutional, statutory, or by judicial decision.” Gov’t Code § 552.101. This exception encompasses information protected by other statutes. Pursuant to section 21.204 of the Labor Code, the commission may investigate a complaint of an unlawful employment practice. See Labor Code § 21.204; see also id. §§ 21.0015 (powers of Commission on Human Rights under Labor Code chapter 21 transferred to commission’s civil rights division), .201. Section 21.304 of the Labor Code provides that “[a]n officer or employee of the commission may not disclose to the public information obtained by the commission under Section 21.204 except as necessary to the conduct of a proceeding under this chapter.” Id. § 21.304.

You indicate the information at issue pertains to a complaint of unlawful employment practices investigated by the commission under section 21.204 and on behalf of the EEOC. We, therefore, agree this information is confidential under section 21.304 of the Labor Code. However, we note the requestor is the attorney for a party to the complaint. Section 21.305 of the Labor Code concerns the release of commission records to a party of a complaint filed under section 21.201 and provides the following:

(a) The commission shall adopt rules allowing a party to a complaint filed under Section 21.201 reasonable access to commission records relating to the complaint.

(b) Unless the complaint is resolved through a voluntary settlement or conciliation, on the written request of a party the executive director shall allow the party access to the commission records:

(1) after the final action of the commission; or

(2) if a civil action relating to the complaint is filed in federal court alleging a violation of federal law.

Id. § 21.305. In this case, the commission has taken final action; therefore, section 21.305 is applicable. At section 819.92 of title 40 of the Texas Administrative Code, the commission has adopted rules that govern access to its records by a party to a complaint. Section 819.92 provides the following:

(a) Pursuant to Texas Labor Code § 21.304 and § 21.305, [the commission] shall, on written request of a party to a perfected complaint filed under Texas Labor Code § 21.201, allow the party access to the [commission’s] records, unless the perfected complaint has been resolved through a voluntary settlement or conciliation agreement:

(1) following the final action of the [commission]; or

(2) if a party to the perfected complaint or the party’s attorney certifies in writing that a civil action relating to the perfected complaint is pending in federal court alleging a violation of federal law.

(b) Pursuant to the authority granted the [c]ommission in Texas Labor Code § 21.305, reasonable access shall not include access to the following:

- (1) information excepted from required disclosure under Texas Government Code, chapter 552; or
- (2) investigator notes.

40 T.A.C. § 819.92.² The commission states the “purpose of the rule amendment is to clarify in rule the [c]ommission’s determination of what materials are available to the parties in a civil rights matter and what materials are beyond what would constitute reasonable access to the file.” 32 Tex. Reg. 553 (2007). A governmental body must have statutory authority to promulgate a rule. See Railroad Comm’n v. ARCO Oil, 876 S.W.2d 473 (Tex. App.—Austin 1994, writ denied). A governmental body has no authority to adopt a rule that is inconsistent with existing state law. Id.; see also Edgewood Indep. Sch. Dist. v. Meno, 917 S.W.2d 717, 750 (Tex. 1995); Attorney General Opinion GA-497 (2006) (in deciding whether governmental body has exceeded its rulemaking powers, a determinative factor is whether provisions of rule are in harmony with general objectives of statute at issue).

As noted above, section 21.305 of the Labor Code requires the release of commission complaint records to a party to a complaint under certain circumstances. See Labor Code § 21.305. In correspondence to our office, you contend under section 819.92(b) of the rule, the Act’s exceptions apply to withhold information in a commission file even when requested by a party to the complaint. See 40 T.A.C. § 819.92(b). Section 21.305 of the Labor Code states the commission “shall allow the party access to the commission’s records.” See Labor Code § 21.305 (emphasis added). The commission’s rule in subsection 819.92(b) operates as a denial of access to complaint information provided by subsection 819.92(a). See 40 T.A.C. § 819.92. Further, the rule conflicts with the mandated party access provided by section 21.305 of the Labor Code. The commission submits no arguments or explanation to resolve this conflict and submits no arguments to support its conclusion that section 21.305’s grant of authority to promulgate rules regarding reasonable access permits the commission to deny party access entirely. Being unable to resolve this conflict, we cannot find rule 819.92(b) operates in harmony with the general objectives of section 21.305 of the Labor Code. Thus, we must make our determination under section 21.305 of the Labor Code. See Edgewood, 917 S.W.2d at 750.

In this case, as we have previously noted, final agency action has been taken. You do not inform us the complaint was resolved through a voluntary settlement or conciliation agreement. Thus, pursuant to sections 21.305 and 819.92(a), the requestor has a right of access to the commission’s records relating to the complaint. Accordingly, none of the submitted information may be withheld on that basis.

²The commission states the amended rule was adopted pursuant to sections 301.0015 and 302.002(d) of the Labor Code, “which provide the [c]ommission with the authority to adopt, amend, or repeal such rules as it deems necessary for the effective administration of [commission] services and activities.” 32 Tex. Reg. 554. The commission also states section 21.305 of the Labor Code “provides the [c]ommission with the authority to adopt rules allowing a party to a complaint filed under § 21.201 reasonable access to [c]ommission records relating to the complaint.” Id.

Turning to your section 552.111 claim, we note this office has long held information that is specifically made public by statute may not be withheld from the public under any of the exceptions to public disclosure under the Act. See, e.g., Open Records Decision Nos. 544 (1990), 378 (1983), 161 (1977), 146 (1976). You contend, however, the submitted information is excepted under section 552.111 of the Government Code. In support of your contention, you claim, in Mace v. EEOC, 37 F. Supp.2d 1144 (E.D. Mo. 1999), a federal court recognized a similar exception by finding “the EEOC could withhold an investigator’s memorandum as predecisional under [FOIA] as part of the deliberative process.” In the Mace decision, however, there was no access provision analogous to sections 21.305 and 819.92. The court did not have to decide whether the EEOC may withhold the document under section 552(b)(5) of title 5 of the United States Code despite the applicability of an access provision. We therefore conclude the present case is distinguishable from the court’s decision in Mace. Furthermore, in Open Records Decision No. 534 (1989), this office examined whether the statutory predecessor to section 21.304 of the Labor Code protected from disclosure the Commission on Human Rights’s investigative files into discrimination charges filed with the EEOC. We stated that, while the statutory predecessor to section 21.304 of the Labor Code made all information collected or created by the Commission on Human Rights during its investigation of a complaint confidential, “[t]his does not mean, however, that the commission is authorized to withhold the information from the parties subject to the investigation.” See Open Records Decision No. 534 at 7 (1989). Therefore, we concluded the release provision grants a special right of access to a party to a complaint. Thus, because access to the commission’s records created under section 21.201 is governed by sections 21.305 and 819.92, we determine the information at issue may not be withheld by the commission under section 552.111 of the Government Code.

Section 552.101 of the Government Code also encompasses section 21.207(b) of the Labor Code, which provides in relevant part the following:

(b) Without the written consent of the complainant and respondent, the commission, its executive director, or its other officers or employees may not disclose to the public information about the efforts in a particular case to resolve an alleged discriminatory practice by conference, conciliation, or persuasion, regardless of whether there is a determination of reasonable cause.

Labor Code § 21.207(b). You state the information you have marked consists of information regarding efforts at mediation or conciliation between the parties to the dispute, and you inform us the commission has not received the written consent of both parties to release this information. Based on your representations and our review, we determine the information you have marked concerning efforts at mediation or conciliation is confidential under section 21.207(b) of the Labor Code and must be withheld under section 552.101 of the Government Code on that basis.

Next, we note the submitted information contains a W-4 form. Section 552.101 also encompasses section 6103(a) of title 26 of the United States Code which renders tax return information confidential. See Attorney General Opinion H-1274(1978) (tax returns); Open Records Decision No. 226 (1979) (W-2 forms); see also Open Records Decision No. 600 (1992) (W-4 forms). Section 6103(b) defines the term "return information" as "a taxpayer's identity, the nature, source, or amount of . . . income, payments, receipts, deductions, exemptions, credits, assets, liabilities, net worth, tax liability, tax withheld, deficiencies, overassessments [sic], or tax payments . . . or any other data, received by, recorded by, prepared by, furnished to, or collected by the Secretary [of the Internal Revenue Service] with respect to a return or with the determination of the existence, or possible existence, of liability . . . for any tax, . . . penalty, . . . , or offense[.]" See 26 U.S.C. § 6103(b)(2)(A). Federal courts have construed the term "return information" expansively to include any information gathered by the Internal Revenue Service regarding a taxpayer's liability under title 26 of the United States Code. See Mallas v. Kolak, 721 F. Supp 748, 754 (M.D.N.C. 1989), aff'd in part, 993 F.2d 1111 (4th Cir. 1993).

Subsections (c) and (e) of section 6103 are exceptions to the confidentiality provisions of section 6103(a) and provide for disclosure of tax information to the taxpayer or the taxpayer's designee. See 26 U.S.C. § 6103(c), (e)(1)(A)(i) (tax return information may be disclosed to taxpayer), (e)(7) (information may be disclosed to any person authorized by subsection(e) to obtain such information if Secretary of Treasury determines such disclosure would not seriously impair tax administration); see also Lake v. Rubin, 162 F.3d 113 (D.C. Cir. 1998) (26 U.S.C. § 6103 represents exclusive statutory route for taxpayer to gain access to own return information and overrides individual's right of access under the federal Freedom of Information Act). Section 6103(c) provides that, unless the Secretary of Treasury determines that disclosure would seriously impair tax administration, tax record information may be released to any person or persons as the taxpayer may designate in a consent to such disclosure. See 26 U.S.C. § 6103(c). We note the requestor represents the individual whose tax information is at issue. Therefore, pursuant to section 6103(c) of title 26 of the United States Code, the commission must release the submitted W-4 form to the requestor if his client has consented to the disclosure of her tax record information to the requestor and the Secretary of Treasury determines that such disclosure would not seriously impair federal tax administration. Otherwise, the submitted W-4 form is confidential under section 6103 of title 26 of the United States Code and the commission must withhold it pursuant to section 552.101 in conjunction with federal law.

Finally, you assert portions of the remaining information are excepted from disclosure under section 552.101 of the Government Code and the doctrine of common-law privacy and sections 552.117 and 552.147 of the Government Code. However, because the requestor in this instance has a statutory right of access to the information at issue, the commission may not withhold any of this information from the requestor pursuant to any of these bases. See Open Records Decision Nos. 623 at 3 (1994) (exceptions in the Act generally inapplicable to information that statutes expressly make public), 613 at 4 (1993) (exceptions in Act cannot impinge on statutory right of access to information), 451 (1986) (specific statutory right of access provisions overcome general exceptions to disclosure under the Act.).

In summary, the commission must withhold the information you have marked concerning efforts at mediation or conciliation under section 552.101 of the Government Code in conjunction with section 21.207(b) of the Labor Code. Unless the requestor's client has consented to the disclosure of her tax record information to the requestor and the Secretary of Treasury determines that disclosure would not seriously impair federal tax administration, the commission must also withhold the submitted W-4 form under section 552.101 of the Government Code in conjunction with federal law. The remaining information must be released to the requestor.

This letter ruling is limited to the particular information at issue in this request and limited to the facts as presented to us; therefore, this ruling must not be relied upon as a previous determination regarding any other information or any other circumstances.

This ruling triggers important deadlines regarding the rights and responsibilities of the governmental body and of the requestor.
