Dear Mr. Wier:

You ask whether certain information is subject to required public disclosure under the Public Information Act (the "Act"), chapter 552 of the Government Code. Your request was assigned ID# 411092.

Workforce Solutions Greater Dallas ("workforce") received a request for the winning proposal related to an RFP to Provide Fiscal Monitoring Services. You do not take a position as to whether the submitted information is excepted from disclosure under the Act. However, the accounting firm of Christine H. Nguyen (the "firm"), an interested third party, asserts in correspondence to this office that its information is excepted from disclosure under sections 552.104, 552.110, and 552.128 of the Government Code. See Gov't Code § 552.305(d); see also Open Records Decision No. 542 at 3 (1990) (statutory predecessor to section 552.305 permits governmental body to rely on interested third party to raise and explain applicability of exception in the Act in certain circumstances). We have reviewed the submitted arguments and information.

The firm asserts the submitted information is excepted from disclosure under section 552.104 of the Government Code. However, this section is a discretionary exception that protects only the interests of a governmental body, as distinguished from exceptions that are intended to protect the interests of third parties. See Open Records Decision Nos. 592 (1991) (statutory predecessor to section 552.104 designed to protect interests of a governmental body in a competitive situation, and not interests of private parties submitting information to the government), 522 (1989) (discretionary exceptions in general). Workforce did not assert section 552.104; therefore, it may not withhold any of the information at issue pursuant to that section. See ORD 592.

Section 552.110 of the Government Code protects the proprietary interests of private parties by excepting from disclosure two types of information: trade secrets and commercial or financial information the release of which would cause a third party substantial competitive harm. Section 552.110(a) of the Government Code excepts from disclosure “[a] trade secret obtained from a person and privileged or confidential by statute or judicial decision.” The Texas Supreme Court has adopted the definition of trade secret from section 757 of the RESTATEMENT OF TORTS. Hyde Corp. v. Huffines, 314 S.W.2d 763 (Tex. 1958); see also Open Records Decision No. 552 at 2 (1990). Section 757 provides a trade secret is any formula, pattern, device or compilation of information which is used in one’s business, and which gives him an opportunity to obtain an advantage over competitors who do not know or use it. It may be a formula for a chemical compound, a process of manufacturing, treating or preserving materials, a pattern for a machine or other device, or a list of customers. It differs from other secret information in a business . . . in that it is not simply information as to single or ephemeral events in the conduct of the business. . . . A trade secret is a process or device for continuous use in the operation of the business. . . . [It may] relate to the sale of goods or to other operations in the business, such as a code for determining discounts, rebates or other concessions in a price list or catalogue, or a list of specialized customers, or a method of bookkeeping or other office management.

RESTATEMENT OF TORTS § 757 cmt. b (1939); see also Huffines, 314 S.W.2d at 776. In determining whether particular information constitutes a trade secret, this office considers the Restatement’s definition of trade secret as well as the Restatement’s list of six trade secret factors.¹ RESTATEMENT OF TORTS § 757 cmt. b. This office must accept a private person’s claim for exception as valid under that branch if that person establishes a prima facie case for exception and no argument is submitted that rebuts the claim as a matter of law. ORD 552 at 5-6. However, we cannot conclude section 552.110(a) applies unless it has been shown the information meets the definition of a trade secret and the necessary factors have been demonstrated to establish a trade secret claim. See Open Records Decision No. 402 (1983). We also note pricing information pertaining to a particular contract is generally not a trade secret because it is “simply information as to single or ephemeral events in the conduct of the business,” rather than “a process or device for continuous use in the operation of the business.” RESTATEMENT OF TORTS § 757 cmt. b; see Hyde Corp. v. Huffines, 314 S.W.2d 763, 776 (Tex. 1958); ORD 319 at 3, 306 at 3.

¹The following are the six factors that the Restatement gives as indicia of whether information constitutes a trade secret: (1) the extent to which the information is known outside of the company; (2) the extent to which it is known by employees and others involved in the company’s business; (3) the extent of measures taken by the company to guard the secrecy of the information; (4) the value of the information to [the company and its competitors]; (5) the amount of effort or money expended by the company in developing the information; (6) the ease or difficulty with which the information could be properly acquired or duplicated by others. RESTATEMENT OF TORTS § 757 cmt. b; see also Open Records Decision Nos. 319 at 2 (1982), 306 at 2 (1982), 255 at 2 (1980).

Section 552.110(b) excepts from disclosure “[c]ommercial or financial information for which it is demonstrated based on specific factual evidence that disclosure would cause substantial competitive harm to the person from whom the information was obtained.” Section 552.110(b) requires a specific factual or evidentiary showing, not conclusory or generalized allegations, that substantial competitive injury would likely result from release of the requested information.² See ORD 661 at 5-6 (business enterprise must show by specific factual evidence that release of information would cause it substantial competitive harm). However, the pricing information of a winning bidder is generally not excepted from disclosure under section 552.110(b). See Open Records Decision Nos. 514 (1988) (public has interest in knowing prices charged by government contractors), 319 at 3 (information relating to organization and personnel, market studies, professional references, qualifications and experience, and pricing is not ordinarily excepted from disclosure under statutory predecessor to section 552.110). See generally Dep’t of Justice Guide to the Freedom of Information Act 344-345 (2009) (federal cases applying analogous Freedom of Information Act reasoning that disclosure of prices charged government is a cost of doing business with government). Moreover, we believe the public has a strong interest in the release of prices in government contract awards. See ORD 514.

We find the firm has established some of the submitted information consists of trade secrets; therefore, workforce must withhold this information, which we have marked, under section 552.110(a). However, we find the firm failed to establish a prima facie case that any of the remaining information is a trade secret. See id. § 552.110(a); ORD 402. In addition, the firm has made only conclusory allegations that release of the remaining information at issue would cause substantial competitive injury, and has provided no specific factual or evidentiary showing to support such allegations. See Gov’t Code § 552.110(b). Thus, workforce may not withhold any of the remaining information under section 552.110(a) or (b).

²In its section 552.110 arguments, the firm relies on the test announced in National Parks & Conservation Association v. Morton, 498 F.2d 765 (D.C. Cir. 1974), concerning the applicability of the section 552(b)(4) exemption under the federal Freedom of Information Act to third-party information held by a federal entity. See Nat’l Parks, 498 F.2d 765. Although this office applied the National Parks test at one time to the statutory predecessor to section 552.110, the Third Court of Appeals overturned that standard in holding National Parks was not a judicial decision for purposes of former section 552.110. See Birnbaum v. Alliance of Am. Insurers, 994 S.W.2d 766, 776 (Tex. App.—Austin 1999, pet. denied). Section 552.110(b) now expressly states the standard to be applied and requires a specific factual demonstration that the release of the information at issue would cause the business enterprise that submitted the information substantial competitive harm. See Open Records Decision No. 661 at 5-6 (1999) (discussing Seventy-sixth Legislature’s enactment of Gov’t Code § 552.110(b)).

Finally, the firm asserts the remaining information is excepted from disclosure under section 552.128 of the Government Code. Section 552.128 is applicable to “[i]nformation submitted by a potential vendor or contractor to a governmental body in connection with an application for certification as a historically underutilized or disadvantaged business under a local, state, or federal certification program[.]” Id. § 552.128(a). However, the firm does not indicate it submitted its proposal in connection with an application for certification under such a program. Moreover, section 552.128(c) states that [i]nformation submitted by a vendor or contractor or a potential vendor or contractor to a governmental body in connection with a specific proposed contractual relationship, a specific contract, or an application to be placed on a bidders list . . . is subject to required disclosure, excepted from required disclosure, or confidential in accordance with other law.

Id. § 552.128(c). The firm submitted its proposal to workforce in connection with a specific proposed contractual relationship with workforce. We therefore conclude workforce may not withhold any portion of the firm’s proposal under section 552.128 of the Government Code.

To conclude, workforce must withhold the information we have marked under section 552.110(a) of the Government Code. Workforce must release the remaining information to the requestor.

This letter ruling is limited to the particular information at issue in this request and limited to the facts as presented to us; therefore, this ruling must not be relied upon as a previous determination regarding any other information or any other circumstances.

This ruling triggers important deadlines regarding the rights and responsibilities of the governmental body and of the requestor.
