Assistant City Attorney

City of Dallas

OR2011-08548

Dear Ms. McClellan:

You ask whether certain information is subject to required public disclosure under the Public Information Act (the "Act"), chapter 552 of the Government Code. Your request was assigned ID# 420965 (DPD Request Number: 2011-2801).

The Dallas Police Department (the "department") received a request for a specified incident report. You claim portions of the requested information are excepted from disclosure under sections 552.101 and 552.130 of the Government Code. We have considered the exceptions you claim and reviewed the submitted representative sample of information.¹

Section 552.101 of the Government Code excepts from disclosure "information considered to be confidential by law, either constitutional, statutory, or by judicial decision." Gov't Code § 552.101. Section 552.101 encompasses chapter 772 of the Health and Safety Code, which authorizes the development of local emergency communications districts. Sections 772.118, 772.218, and 772.318 of the Health and Safety Code are applicable to emergency 9-1-1 districts established in accordance with chapter 772. See Open Records Decision No. 649 (1996). These sections make only the originating telephone numbers and addresses of 9-1-1 callers that are furnished by a 9-1-1 service supplier confidential. Id. at 2. Section 772.318 applies to an emergency communication district for a county with a population of more than 20,000. Health & Safety Code § 772.304.

¹We assume that the "representative sample" of records submitted to this office is truly representative of the requested records as a whole. See Open Records Decision Nos. 499 (1988), 497 (1988). This open records letter does not reach, and therefore does not authorize the withholding of, any other requested records to the extent that those records contain substantially different types of information than that submitted to this office.

We understand the City of Dallas is part of an emergency communication district established under chapter 772. You have marked a telephone number of a 9-1-1 caller the department seeks to withhold. However, you do not inform us whether the information at issue was furnished by a service supplier. Accordingly, we will rule conditionally. Thus, if the 9-1-1 caller's telephone number you have marked was furnished by a 9-1-1 service supplier, then this marked information must be withheld under section 552.101 of the Government Code in conjunction with section 772.318 of the Health and Safety Code. But if the marked information was not furnished by a 9-1-1 service supplier, then it may not be withheld under section 552.101 on the basis of section 772.318 and must be released.

Section 552.101 of the Government Code also encompasses the common-law right of privacy, which protects information if it (1) contains highly intimate or embarrassing facts, the publication of which would be highly objectionable to a reasonable person, and (2) is not of legitimate concern to the public. Indus. Found. v. Tex. Indus. Accident Bd., 540 S.W.2d 668, 685 (Tex. 1976). To demonstrate the applicability of common-law privacy, both prongs of this test must be established. Id. at 681-82. The type of information considered intimate and embarrassing by the Texas Supreme Court in Industrial Foundation included information relating to sexual assault, pregnancy, mental or physical abuse in the workplace, illegitimate children, psychiatric treatment of mental disorders, attempted suicide, and injuries to sexual organs. Id. at 683. Whether information is subject to a legitimate public interest and therefore not protected by common-law privacy must be determined on a case-by-case basis. See Open Records Decision No. 373 (1983).

Upon review, we find that the information you have marked and the information we have marked is highly intimate or embarrassing and not of legitimate public concern. Therefore, the department must withhold the marked information pursuant to section 552.101 of the Government Code in conjunction with common-law privacy.

You also claim section 552.130 of the Government Code for portions of the remaining information. Section 552.130 provides information relating to a motor vehicle operator's license, driver's license, motor vehicle title, or registration issued by a Texas agency is excepted from public release. Gov't Code § 552.130(a)(1), (2). We find the department must withhold the information you have marked under section 552.130 of the Government Code.²

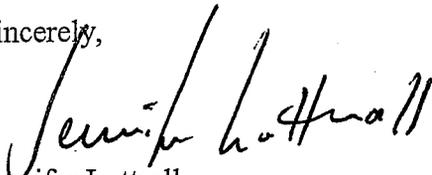

²We note this office issued Open Records Decision No. 684 (2009), a previous determination to all governmental bodies authorizing them to withhold ten categories of information, including Texas license plate numbers under section 552.130 of the Government Code, without the necessity of requesting an attorney general decision.

In summary, to the extent the 9-1-1 caller's telephone number you have marked was furnished by a 9-1-1 service supplier, the department must withhold this information under section 552.101 of the Government Code in conjunction with section 772.318 of the Health and Safety Code. The department must withhold the marked information under section 552.101 of the Government Code in conjunction with common-law privacy. The department must withhold the marked information under section 552.130 of the Government Code. The department must release the remaining information.

This letter ruling is limited to the particular information at issue in this request and limited to the facts as presented to us; therefore, this ruling must not be relied upon as a previous determination regarding any other information or any other circumstances.

This ruling triggers important deadlines regarding the rights and responsibilities of the governmental body and of the requestor.
