Dear Ms. Hale:

You ask whether certain information is subject to required public disclosure under the Public Information Act (the "Act"), chapter 552 of the Texas Government Code. Your request was assigned ID# 464407 (PIR# 12-33719).

The Office of the Attorney General (the "OAG") received a request for information related to two open records letter rulings issued by the OAG's Open Records Division and the corresponding requests for information. You state that some of the information that is responsive to this request has been made available to the requestor. You claim that the remaining responsive information is excepted from disclosure under sections 552.107 and 552.111 of the Texas Government Code. We have considered your arguments and reviewed the submitted representative sample of information.¹

Section 552.111 of the Government Code protects advice, opinions, and recommendations in the decisional processes of a governmental body and encourages open and frank discussion in the deliberative process. See Austin v. City of San Antonio, 630 S.W.2d 391, 394 (Tex. App.—San Antonio 1982, no writ); Tex. Att'y Gen. ORD-538 (1990) at 1-2. In Open Records Decision No. 559 this office concluded that a preliminary draft of a document that is intended for public release in its final form necessarily represents the drafter's advice, opinion, and recommendation with regard to the form and content of the final document, so as to be excepted from disclosure under section 552.111. Tex. Att'y Gen. ORD-559 (1990) at 2 (applying statutory predecessor). Section 552.111 also protects factual information in the draft that also will be included in the final version of the document. See id. at 2-3. Thus, section 552.111 encompasses the entire contents, including comments, underlining, deletions, and proofreading marks, of a preliminary draft of a policymaking document that will be released to the public in its final form. See id. at 2.

¹We assume this representative sample is truly representative of the requested records as a whole. This open records letter does not reach, and therefore does not authorize the withholding of, any other requested records to the extent those records contain substantially different types of information than that submitted to this office.

You state that the responsive information includes "drafts of ORD letter rulings that have been released publically in their final form." You also state that the "drafts were made in furtherance of the OAG's policy of issuing open records letter rulings to maintain uniformity in [the] application, operation, and interpretation of the PIA." Based upon your representations, we conclude that the letter ruling drafts, which you have marked, may be withheld under section 552.111 of the Government Code.

Next, you assert that the remaining information is excepted from disclosure under section 552.107(1) of the Government Code. That section protects information coming within the attorney-client privilege. When asserting the attorney-client privilege, a governmental body has the burden of providing the necessary facts to demonstrate the elements of the privilege in order to withhold the information at issue. Tex. Att'y Gen. ORD-676 (2002) at 6-7. First, a governmental body must demonstrate that the information constitutes or documents a communication. Id. at 7. Second, the communication must have been made "for the purpose of facilitating the rendition of professional legal services" to the client governmental body. TEX. R. EVID. 503(b)(1). The privilege does not apply when an attorney or representative is involved in some capacity other than that of providing or facilitating professional legal services to the client governmental body. In re Tex. Farmers Ins. Exch., 990 S.W.2d 337, 340 (Tex. App.—Texarkana 1999, pet. denied) (attorney-client privilege does not apply if attorney acting in a capacity other than that of attorney). Third, the privilege applies only to communications between or among clients, client representatives, lawyers, and lawyer representatives. TEX. R. EVID. 503(b)(1). Thus, a governmental body must inform this office of the identities and capacities of the individuals to whom each communication at issue has been made. Lastly, the attorney-client privilege applies only to a confidential communication, meaning it was "not intended to be disclosed to third persons other than those to whom disclosure is made in furtherance of the rendition of professional legal services to the client or those reasonably necessary for the transmission of the communication." Id. 503(a)(5). Whether a communication meets this definition depends on the intent of the parties involved at the time the information was communicated. Osborne v. Johnson, 954 S.W.2d 180, 184 (Tex. App.—Waco 1997, no pet.). Moreover, because the client may elect to waive the privilege at any time, a governmental body must explain that the confidentiality of a communication has been maintained. Section 552.107(1) generally excepts an entire communication that is demonstrated to be protected by the attorney-client privilege unless otherwise waived by the governmental body. See Huie v.

DeShazo, 922 S.W.2d 920, 923 (Tex. 1996) (privilege extends to entire communication, including facts contained therein).

You state that the remaining information consists of e-mails and “internal ORD tracking sheets” that were transmitted between OAG attorneys and OAG personnel for the purposes of “legal review and analysis” and “providing professional legal services to the OAG.” You also state that the remaining information was not intended to be, nor has it been, disclosed to non-privileged parties. Based on your representations, we conclude that the remaining information is subject to the attorney-client privilege and may be withheld under section 552.107 of the Government Code.

In summary, the OAG may withhold the information you have marked under sections 552.107 and 552.111 of the Government Code.

This letter ruling is limited to the particular information at issue in this request and limited to the facts as presented to us; therefore, this ruling must not be relied upon as a previous determination regarding any other information or any other circumstances.

This ruling triggers important deadlines regarding the rights and responsibilities of the governmental body and of the requestor.
