

ATTORNEY GENERAL OF TEXAS
GREG ABBOTT

December 27, 2012

Ms. Margo Kaiser
Staff Attorney
Texas Workforce Commission
101 East 15th Street
Austin, Texas 78778

OR2012-20775

Dear Ms. Kaiser:

You ask whether certain information is subject to required public disclosure under the Public Information Act (the "Act"), chapter 552 of the Government Code. Your request was assigned ID# 474775 (TWC Tracking No. 121004-017).

The Texas Workforce Commission (the "commission") received a request for a specified final investigation report. You claim portions of the submitted information are excepted from disclosure under section 552.101 of the Government Code. We have considered the exception you claim and reviewed the submitted representative sample of information.¹

Section 3616 of title 42 of the United States Code authorizes the commission to utilize the services of state and local fair housing agencies to assist in meeting its statutory mandate to enforce laws prohibiting discrimination. See 42 U.S.C. § 3616. You state, pursuant to this authorization, the commission's Civil Rights Division ("CRD") is currently operating under a cooperative agreement with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development ("HUD") in the investigation and resolution of complaints of housing discrimination. Section 301.036 of the Property Code details that the CRD shall receive, investigate, seek to conciliate, and act on complaints alleging violations of the Texas Fair Housing Act. See Prop. Code § 301.036. Then, upon the filing of a complaint, both federal and state law ¹We assume the "representative sample" of records submitted to this office is truly representative of the requested records as a whole. See Open Records Decision Nos. 499 (1988), 497 (1988). This open records letter does not reach, and therefore does not authorize the withholding of, any other requested records to the extent that those records contain substantially different types of information than that submitted to this office.

mirror each other in language and encourage conciliation to the extent feasible. See 42 U.S.C. § 3610(b) (providing that during the period beginning with the filing of a complaint and ending with the filing of a charge or a dismissal the commission shall engage in conciliation, to the extent feasible); Prop. Code § 301.085 (providing that the commission shall, during the period beginning with the filing of a complaint and ending with the filing of a charge or a dismissal by the commission, to the extent feasible, engage in conciliation with respect to the complaint).

You state the submitted information relates to a discrimination complaint filed with the commission under its cooperative agreement. You claim portions of the submitted information are excepted from disclosure under section 552.101 of the Government Code in conjunction with both federal and state law. Section 552.101 of the Government Code excepts from disclosure “information considered to be confidential by law, either constitutional, statutory, or by judicial decision.” Gov’t Code § 552.101. Section 552.101 encompasses section 3610 of title 42 of the United States Code, which provides as follows:

(d) Prohibitions and requirements with respect to disclosure of information

(1) Nothing said or done in the course of conciliation under this subchapter may be made public or used as evidence in a subsequent proceeding under this subchapter without the written consent of the persons concerned.

42 U.S.C. § 3610(d)(1). The submitted information consists of a final investigative report. You state portions of the submitted information are excepted from disclosure because the CRD’s efforts at conciliation are confidential under section 552.101 of the Government Code in conjunction with section 3610(d)(1) of title 42 of the United States Code. We note, however, section 3610(d)(1) does not protect “conciliation efforts;” it protects things “said or done in the course of conciliation[.]” Id. Upon review, we find the information at issue consists of neither things said nor done in the course of a conciliation. Accordingly, we find the commission may not withhold the information at issue under section 552.101 of the Government Code in conjunction with section 3610(d)(1) of title 42 of the United States Code.

Section 552.101 of the Government Code also encompasses section 301.085 of the Property Code, which provides in pertinent part as follows:

(e) Statements made or actions taken in the conciliation may not be made public or used as evidence in a subsequent proceeding under this chapter without the written consent of the persons concerned.

(f) After completion of the commission’s investigation, the commission shall make available to the aggrieved person and the respondent, at any time, information derived from the investigation and the final investigative report relating to that investigation.

Prop. Code § 301.085(e), (f). You also state portions of the submitted information are excepted from disclosure because the CRD's efforts at conciliation are confidential under section 552.101 of the Government Code in conjunction with section 301.085(e) of the Property Code. We note, however, section 301.085(e) does not protect "conciliation efforts;" it protects "statements made or actions taken in the conciliation[.]" Id. § 301.85(e). Upon review, we find the information at issue consists of neither statements made nor actions taken in a conciliation. Accordingly, we find the commission may not withhold the information at issue under section 552.101 of the Government Code in conjunction with section 301.085(e). Further, we note 301.085(f) mandates release of the final investigative report upon request of a party to the complaint. In this instance, the requestor is the attorney for the respondent in the discrimination claim. See id. § 301.003(10) (respondent is person accused of violation in complaint). Accordingly, pursuant to section 301.085(f) the submitted final investigative report must generally be released to this requestor.

You also assert portions of the submitted information are excepted from disclosure under section 552.101 in conjunction with common-law privacy.² However, because the requestor in this instance has a statutory right of access to the information at issue, the commission may not withhold any of this information from the requestor pursuant to section 552.101 in conjunction with common-law privacy. See Collins v. Tex Mall, L.P., 297 S.W.3d 409, 415 (Tex. App.—Fort Worth 2009, no pet.) (statutory provision controls and preempts common law only when statute directly conflicts with common law principle); CenterPoint Energy Houston Elec. LLC v. Harris County Toll Rd., 436 F.3d 541, 544 (5th Cir. 2006) (common law controls only where there is no conflicting or controlling statutory law).

Section 552.101 of the Government Code also encompasses information protected by the Medical Practice Act ("MPA"), subtitle B of title 3 of the Occupations Code. Section 159.002 of the MPA provides in relevant part:

(b) A record of the identity, diagnosis, evaluation, or treatment of a patient by a physician that is created or maintained by a physician is confidential and privileged and may not be disclosed except as provided by this chapter.

(c) A person who receives information from a confidential communication or record as described by this chapter, other than a person listed in Section 159.004 who is acting on the patient's behalf, may not disclose the information except to the extent that disclosure is consistent with the authorized purposes for which the information was first obtained.

Occ. Code § 159.002(b)–(c). This office has concluded the protection afforded by section 159.002 extends only to records created by either a physician or someone under the supervision of a physician. Information that is subject to the MPA includes both medical records and information obtained from those medical records. See id. §§ 159.002, .004. Upon review, we find the information you have marked constitutes information obtained from medical records subject to the MPA. Accordingly, the commission must generally withhold the information you have marked under section 552.101 in conjunction with the MPA.

However, as noted above, the requestor in this instance is the respondent to the complaint and thus, has a statutory right of access under section 301.085(f) of the Property Code to the information at issue. Thus, the instant situation presents a conflict between the protection of the MPA and the release provision of section 301.085(f) of the Property Code. Where information falls within both a general and a specific statutory provision, the specific statutory provision prevails as an exception to the general provision, unless the general provision is the later enactment and the manifest intent is that the general provision prevail. See Gov't Code § 311.026; Cuellar v. State, 521 S.W.2d 277 (Tex. Crim. App. 1975) (under well-established rule of statutory construction, specific statutory provisions prevail over general ones).

The MPA specifically makes medical records confidential, while section 301.085(f) gives a general right of access to the final investigative report upon request of a party to the complaint. See Occ. Code § 159.002(a), (b); Prop. Code § 301.085(f). Therefore, we find the confidentiality provisions of the MPA are more specific than the access provision of section 301.085. Accordingly, the commission must withhold the information obtained from medical records you have marked under section 552.101 in conjunction with the MPA.

In summary, the information obtained from medical records you have marked must be withheld under section 552.101 of the Government Code in conjunction with the MPA. The remaining information must be released.³

This letter ruling is limited to the particular information at issue in this request and limited to the facts as presented to us; therefore, this ruling must not be relied upon as a previous determination regarding any other information or any other circumstances.

³We note this requestor has a special right of access to the information being released. Therefore, if the commission receives another request for this information from a different requestor, the commission must again seek a ruling from this office.

This ruling triggers important deadlines regarding the rights and responsibilities of the governmental body and of the requestor. For more information concerning those rights and responsibilities, please visit our website at http://www.oag.state.tx.us/open/index_orl.php, or call the Office of the Attorney General's Open Government Hotline, toll free, at (877) 673-6839.
